HOW TO READ THIS REPORT

Impressions

Total times our content appeared on a screen. 1K = 1,000 views. For a B2B LinkedIn post, 1–3K is solid; 5K+ is excellent.

Engagement rate

Engagements as a % of impressions. 1–3% is healthy for B2B; 5%+ is strong; 10%+ is breakout.

Engagements

Active interactions — likes, comments, shares and clicks combined. Counts everyone who did something with the post.

Followers

People who chose to subscribe so our future posts appear in their feed. The audience we're building.

Where attention landed — impressions mix

Share of total content impressions across April 2026

 LinkedIn	31K	4%
 Instagram	817K	96%
 YouTube	0	0.0%

Instagram drove 96% of total impressions — our #TakeFive Raihanna Reel reached well beyond our 557 followers, almost certainly via the Explore page. The story for May: can we replicate that breakout on LinkedIn?

Where we begin — daily momentum in April

29 days of follower growth across LinkedIn and Instagram combined. The line below is the baseline we'll measure every month against from May onwards.

DAILY GROWTH · LINKEDIN VS INSTAGRAM

Each line shows how much each channel's audience grew across April. Both start at 0% on day 1.

LINKEDIN

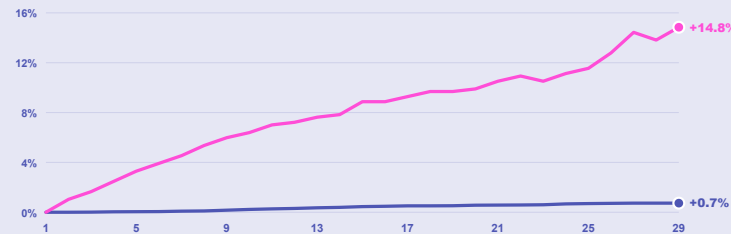

49,153 → 49,512

+359 followers · +0.7%

INSTAGRAM

485 → 557

+72 followers · +14.8%

Why % growth? LinkedIn (49K followers) and Instagram (500) have very different audience sizes — plotting raw numbers would flatten Instagram's curve. Showing % from 1 April keeps both channels comparable and surfaces the real story: Instagram is in growth mode.

THE STORY THIS MONTH

From IWD to LEO satellite — people and infrastructure, side by side.

April was the month we set the tone. Our IWD mentoring story showed what people-led content can do. LEO satellite and VetPartners proved the customer outcomes are landing. And the #TakeFive Reel reminded us what's possible on Instagram when content connects.

WHAT WE LEARNED

Three things to take into May

The standout takeaways from our first month — what worked, what surprised us, and what we'll build on.

34.4%

IWD post broke through

Our ABCN mentoring post hit a 34.4% engagement rate on LinkedIn — proof early in the journey that people-led stories cut through.

+72

Instagram crossed 550

The #TakeFive Raihanna Reel reached well beyond our follower base — likely via Explore — and added 72 followers in a single month.

91%

Reaching Australia

91 of every 100 LinkedIn followers are based in Australia — exactly the customers, government and talent our strategy is built to reach.

Lowest reach this month

Text posts on LinkedIn drove the biggest engagement numbers — but most of that was hashtag clicks rather than likes/comments. Reels and Instagram stories generated more meaningful reactions, with the ANZAC Day story alone hitting a 7.7% reaction rate from followers.
